ATLANTA, GEORGIA— Commercial real estate services firm Bull Realty celebrates 22 years in business this month with the announcement of two additional firm partners, John DeYonker and Michael Wess.

John DeYonker, a long time respected commercial real estate professional in Atlanta with a background in development joined Bull Realty in 2008. His services include developer site selection and land dispositions throughout the Southeastern U.S. Notable sales include 5,690 acres outside Phoenix and 856 acres in metro Atlanta.

Michael Wess, CCIM joined Bull Realty in 2016 after having started his brokerage career with a national firm in 2015. When he joined Bull Realty, his business began to flourish including sales of over 84 million since joining the firm. Michael graduated from UGA with degrees in real estate, finance and international business in 2014.

They join existing firm partners Nancy Miller CCIM, Daniel Latshaw CCIM, Paul Zeman, Andy Lundsberg, Darrell Chapman and firm founder Michael Bull CCIM. Among other benefits the Bull Realty's partner plan awards top producing agents the opportunity to share in company profits.

"I'm proud of the service John and Michael's teams provide for our clients. They exemplify our firms founding principles of integrity and a commitment to excellence," said Michael Bull, CEO.
